

---

Andrew “Andy” Michael Singer

Admiral Inman Chair for Intelligence Executive Director, Cyber Warfare Center Naval Postgraduate School, Monterey, CA

Mr. Singer serves as the Navy Information Dominance lead for Students and curriculum and is assigned to the Office of the Dean of Research at Naval Postgraduate School (NPS). As a member of the faculty and staff he is engaged in all aspects of Naval advanced education and research in the fields of Intelligence, Information Warfare, Information Technology, Space and Oceanography. Additionally he leads Information Dominance Corps related executive development venues and initiatives.

Rejoining the Navy as a senior executive in January 2010 Andy previously completed a distinguished career as a Naval Officer. Singer began his Naval Career in 1977 after serving as a New Jersey Probation Officer. During his 31 years of service Andy enjoyed a distinguished career as a senior Naval Officer specializing in Information Warfare, Cyber Operations, Intelligence and Maritime Operations. His service included many key positions spanning all aspects of Intelligence, operations and Information Systems.

Commissioned through Officer Candidate School, Newport, R.I., later to be Rear Admiral Singer reported to USS Midway (CV-41) in Yokosuka, Japan in February 1978. He was designated a Surface Warfare Officer October 1 that year.

In November 1979 he reported for duty as Combat Systems Officer in USS Pegasus (PHM-1) home ported in Little Creek, Va., and Key West, Fla.

From October 1981 until June 1984 he was assigned to the Chief of Naval Personnel, Washington, D.C., as an Assignment Officer for Surface Warfare and General Unrestricted Line Officers. He reported as Combat Systems Officer in USS Peterson (DD-969) home ported in Norfolk, Va., in December 1984.

Designated a Navy Cryptologist, he reported to Commander, Naval Security Group Command, Washington, D.C., in October 1986 to serve as Director, Fleet Support Division, Special Operations Department.

In July 1990 he reported as Naval Security Group Department Head at Naval Computer and Telecommunications Area Master Station Western Pacific, Dededo, Guam.

In July 1992 Singer reported as Fleet Cryptologist/Command and Control Warfare Officer on the staff of Commander, 7th Fleet, embarked on USS Blue Ridge (LCC-19) in Yokosuka, Japan.

In August 1994 he reported to the National War College. Graduating in June of 1995 he reported to the staff of the Commander in Chief, United States Pacific Command at Camp H. M. Smith, Hawaii, where he served as Chief, SIGINT and Information Operations Branch.

Updated 6-10

He reported to the Commander, Naval Security Group Command, Fort George G. Meade, Md., in 1998 and served as the Director for Operations, Plans and Information operations.

He then commanded NSA's Kunia Regional Security Operations Center and Naval Security Group Activity Kunia (now Navy Information Operations Command) and reported as Vice Commander, Naval Network Warfare Command in August 2002.

In October 2004 he reported as N3/N5 IO and Commander of Naval Security Group Command and in August 2005 he reported as Director for Intelligence, US Pacific Command, Camp Smith, Hawaii.

In the spring of 2008 he joined the consulting firm Booz Allen Hamilton where he led the firm's largest human and intellectual initiative. This $7M Cyber Initiative focused on developing the skills and processes needed to master operations in cyberspace.

Selected as the Admiral Inman Chair for Intelligence sponsored by the Deputy Chief of Naval Operations for Information dominance in the autumn of 2009, he reported for duty at the beginning of 2010.

Military awards and decorations include various personal awards, Joint and Navy Unit Commendations, Expeditionary Medals, Service Medals and ribbons. He has been recognized formally and informally as a subject matter expert and leader in intelligence, information operations, cyber, space and Network Operations within and outside of the Department of Defense.

Singer earned a bachelor's degree in political science from Rutgers University and a master's of science in national security strategy from the National War College.

Mr. Singer is a member of many professional organizations dedicated to professionals in Intelligence, Electrical/Electronic Engineering and advanced Education.